Cly Zotalis Joins the MSU Athletic Hall of Fame

Cly Zotalis, an STPC member, was one of six former Mankato State University athletes inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame October 7.

Cly was the first athlete in history to represent Mankato State at the national level when he competed in tennis at UCLA in 1947. He was a four-year letter winner from 1939-40 and 1947-48, and won the No. 1 singles and doubles conference championships in 1947 and 1948.

Despite some recent injuries and illnesses, Cly is still actively playing tennis, not only with STPC but also with his son, daughter, and six grandchildren.

Our congratulations go to Cly on this wonderful honor.

John Stecklein
STPC President

I am very pleased to announce that two new directors have been appointed to the Board to replace Frank McCabe and Charles Peterson, who have resigned. Jim Tornoe has agreed to complete McCabe's unexpired term — serving until April 1996 — and Mary J. Wenz has accepted appointment to complete Peterson's unexpired term, serving until April 1995. Both new appointees will be eligible to run for election when their terms expire, of course. Mary Wenz lives in West St. Paul and Jim Tornoe hails from Eden Prairie. I believe that these two capable people will make fine additions to the Board.

Speaking of new additions to the Board reminds me that the time has come already when the President must, in compliance with the bylaws, appoint a nominating committee to produce a slate of nominees to replace the five directors whose terms expire on April 1, 1995. I will name the nominating committee at the November 1 meeting, which will be held at the Norwest Bank, St. Louis Park Branch, at 1:30 P.M. Suggestions of nominees (with a little background information) will, of course, be welcome from the membership.

Unfortunately, not all ideas pan out. The sale of caps for STPC members failed to excite many. We lost about ten dollars overall in the sale of the caps, and further plans for caps or other club regalia will be abandoned. I have seven caps left, if anyone wishes to order one or more.

Our innovative venture — a tennis cruise — also did not pan out, but only partially due to our Club's indifference. The tennis emphasis of the cruise was canceled by the cruise line because other sports are stronger draws. Tennis and golf are going to be discontinued as specialized packages because of lack of interest. We could still have taken the cruise, but without the tennis emphasis it would have simply been another cruise. Well, you don't know if you don't try! Our heartfelt thanks go to Marilyn Thorne for the time, money, and effort she spent working on the venture.

I urge you to get your reservations in for the Holiday Dinner Dance coming up on December 7. Let's make it a memorable holiday party!

A Reminder about your Membership Dues

Char Hall, VP Membership

Your 1995 STPC dues are payable by January 1. Anyone joining or paying after December 1 is considered paid through 1995.

The 1995 membership renewal form will be printed in the December Times. If you go away for the winter, call Nancy Kaminski, 781-3271, with your winter address. We want you to receive every issue of the Times.

Captain's Corner

Please note that if you are collecting court fees in advance, depending upon the timing of your fall, winter, and spring segments, you should remind your players that the fee for the next segment is due two weeks prior to the close of the current segment.

In any event, you need to make every effort to keep your roster filled with players, in spite of illness, travel schedules, winter sojourns, etc.

You should attempt to keep your roster reasonably competitive. For the winter and spring periods, we will have at least two groups of skill level 2.5 or less. Contact Chuck Slocum, 941-4059, if you are a beginner or building up your game. In addition, we will try to have one group of more senior participants who may not be quite as skilled as they were when younger. Contact Lee Warner, 560-0384, if you have some interest in this group.

Tennis Tips by Percy Hughes

The Lob — a "Wimpy" Stroke?

The lob should be an important part of your singles and doubles game because it is so simple and can be so devastating if well timed and well executed. It's simple because you do not have to change your back swing, grip or swing.

If your opponent is pressuring you at the net, the lob is a weapon to use to force him back and away from the net, giving you time to move in and take the offensive. It will also tire him more quickly than if you allow him to camp at the net.

The defensive lob is valuable in "buying time" to get back into court position after you have been pulled offcourt or off balance to make a play. Lobs are also useful in changing the pace of a rally or breaking your opponent's rhythm.

In practicing the lob, observe the following check points:

1. Use same back swing as in your regular groundstroke.
2. Firm wrist on contact
3. Slightly open racquetface on contact
4. Follow through

If your lobs are not deep or high enough (giving your opponent an easy overhead), try getting a little more under the ball to get more lift. Think "high and deep."

When lobbing in doubles, lob deep down the middle to take advantage of the opponent's confusion as to who should retreat and play the ball. In singles, lob high and deep to your opponent's backhand, if possible.

Do not omit the lob from your game because you do not practice it or because you feel it isn't an aggressive stroke. It may bring home the trophy. A "wimpy" shot? No!

Ernie Greene Competes at USPTR International Symposium

reported by Percy Hughes

Our pro, Ernie Greene, attended the USPTR International Symposium at Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, for one week. While doing so, Ernie played in their tournaments. He was a finalist in 70 men's singles and finalist in 65 men's doubles, winning $125. I'd like to quote Ernie's summation of Ernie Greene as a player and tennis mentor.

"It's fun and a learning experience, but I know that if I want to win I must take the time to learn the skills better than others."

We're very fortunate to have Ernie Greene on our teaching staff!

The Fall Kickoff Social a Success

Seniors, Tennis & Life the Featured Topic

The Fall Kickoff Social was enjoyed by 85 STPC members and friends on October 18 at the Minnesota Valley Country Club. The co-chairs were Lee Patten and Marilyn Erickson. Member Lloyd Layton and his talented daughter, Kathy Mahoney, added much to the social hour with their piano playing.

Ned Bunday introduced the featured speaker, Steve Wilkinson, tennis coach at Gustavus Adolphus, director of the Tennis and Life camps, and nationally-ranked senior tennis player. Steve knew Arthur Ashe for many years, and he related Ashe's insights into tennis.

Some thoughts for STPC players at the times when a foursome may not be equally skilled: "Make it your goal to hit the ball where the slower player can hit it. Then it's a cooperative game rather than a competitive game."

It was Arthur Ashe's philosophy that after bad line calls, a true tennis player will show respect and sportsmanship in accepting the calls.
