NEWSLETTER OF THE SENIOR TENNIS PLAYERS CLUB, INC. SEPTEMBER 1997

Membership Drive Begins This Month!

STPC is counting on your help! In order to maintain our membership strength at 1500 plus, we need to bring in 200 new members a year. So tell your friends about the benefits of belonging to STPC. Most new members join because they heard about STPC from their friends.

To make membership even more appealing, anyone who joins STPC between September 1 and December 31 not only gets membership for those months, they get 1998, too. This is like getting up to four months free!

For new member applications, call Grayce Aberle at 938-9097.

Grandparent-Grandchild Tournament Rained Out

by Firmin Alexander—...and the rains came!! The 1997 Grandparent-Grandchild Round Robin Tennis Tournament, scheduled for Saturday, July 19, was canceled due to the watery deluge caused by the gods of bad weather!

Firmin Alexander and Jim Tornoe, tournament directors, started play promptly at 8 a.m. at Valley View Playground in Bloomington. Twenty-one teams (the grandchildren ranged in age from 14 to 42) came ready to play.

About a half hour of play had passed, with the 8 a.m. group busily competing, when it all had to be stopped because of the rain. The tournament committee thanks each participating team for their interest and enthusiasm. The participants will try again next summer!

Line Calls

By Dick Lidstone, STPC President—The annual Jack Dow Senior Tennis Tournament will be served up on September 8, and the winners of the five days of play will be known on September 12. Planning for this annual event started shortly after the end of last year's tournament, with just a little breathing space. The tournament committee, chaired by Matt Little and Sue Larson, and with members Ernie Greene, Grayce Aberle, Bob Tischbein, Percy Hughes, Jim Tornoe, Bob Rainey, Lois Bunday, Irma Brink, David Brink, and yours truly, had its first meeting last February. Now all the planning is done. The last activity before the tournament itself was a telethon organized and directed by Chuck Slocum with about twenty volunteers reminding members to sign up. With this volunteer support, we can't help but have a successful tournament.

One of the best examples of being a volunteer is Mary Kaminski, this year's recipient of the Jack Dow Traveling Trophy. If you read last month's Times, you recognized Mary from the front page article and picture. Mary has been giving her all since 1984. She always contributes, and when she takes on a responsibility you know it's going to be handled right. Mary has kept me on course and out of trouble many times. My personal congrats to her. There couldn't be a better or more deserving person to receive the Jack Dow Traveling Trophy.

Last month I mentioned we were going to start long range planning (LRP) for STPC. On August 20, we cleared our Board meeting docket of everything but LRP. Using his business experience and knowledge, Jim Tornoe offered to lead Board members through this arduous process. First, Jim gave us a little bit of education so we would all be on the same frequency. Some of the points he stressed in this process as related to STPC are as follows:

- the mission or purpose of STPC
- our strengths and weaknesses
- our opportunities and concerns
- our strategies to accomplish the plan

With Jim's guidance and drive we should have a road map for the future of STPC by the end of 1997.

Love Stories

Intrepid Jon Wallace Challenges Mountains and Roads with Bravura

by Norm Diamond—He doesn't know the meaning of the word fear, but Jon Wallace, 64, lays no claim either to being a swashbuckling hero. He climbs mountains and rides his bike for the same reason people collect works of art. It's a psychological urge that compels him to avoid the herd syndrome and march to his own drummer. He's been on more laps than a napkin without the cliché of being dubbed a professional athlete.

Jon has climbed the Matterhorn on the Italian-Swiss border with his son and reached the top after three stabs at it. Now you might not compare that feat with Hannibal crossing the Alps but there's a small niche for comparison. In other words, what we have here is a reasonable and sane man having a romp with life and enjoying every minute of it with relish. Luck is not involved in Jon's forays because he believes in himself and his ability to succeed. If you dare him to climb Mount Everest, don't be surprised if he accepts the exploit and double dares you to accompany him.

After joining a bike club called Rotas, six of its members, including Jon, talked about riding across America on their bikes. Because he had biked all over Europe and places like Sardinia, New Zealand and Australia, Jon was ripe for the adventure. The six shipped their bikes to San Diego this past April 1 and blocked out five weeks to get them back to Minneapolis. They rode some eight hours daily at an average 15 miles per hour and covered between 45 to 110 miles. The trip was designed for motel stop-overs each day. Average age of the six was 61 and the road bikes they used had small tires and drop handlebars.

On April 30 going through Greenfield, Iowa, Jon hit a deep pothole, fell and broke his shoulder. After hospitalization for a few days, wife Maricarol drove to Greenfield to drive him home. It took him two months to recuperate and as you read this story, Jon will be completing the Greenfield-Minneapolis run. Next year the Rotas riders will do their thing from the East coast to the Twin Cities.

Jon is a retired food broker and was with the Kuehn, Pearson, and Rufer group for 35 years. He has been married for 42 years, has three children and eight grandchildren. Both of his parents are living and have encouraged their dashing son to be free to do as he pleases. Born in Tulsa, the family moved to Minneapolis where Jon graduated from Washburn High. He received a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Minnesota and was an artillery man with the US Army during the Korean conflict.

His philosophy of life: "when you exit this world amidst a vale of tears, you will want to be remembered by your children, grandchildren and lifetime relationships as a good person." Pet peeve is narrow-minded people who generally don't know why they're so narrow. A fiscal conservative and independent voter, he is dismayed by political cynicism. Yet he maintains a great sense of humor despite the political braying. And eclectic reader, he polishes off two novels weekly.

Hobbies are his tight little island in Northern Minnesota, woodworking, weightlifting, biking and of course, tennis. He joined the STPC hitters some two years ago via Sue Larson. He also enjoys watching sports on the tube when he's exhausted from participating in his own regimen. Jon was once an avid squash player, runner, and skier but has retrenched to the point of a lead pencil. He has traveled the world with Maricarol and the menage and indulged in Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, fettuccini and pesto, and his favorite grilled salmon.

Club Notes

Players Wanted!

Players with about a 3.5 level (3.25–3.75) would like to start a new group on Wednesday morning, no earlier than 9 a.m., location open. If you like to sleep late and then play tennis, give Connie Waterous a call at 291-1610.

Decathlon Needs Players

We can use subs and possibly one regular player at the Decathlon Club on Wednesdays from 9–11 a.m., men, 2.5–3.5, starting September 24. If you're interested, call Mike Bosanko at 475-0253.

Subs Needed at Nicollet

Mary Kaminski wants to develop a longer 2.5–3.0 sub list (both men and women) for a prime-time playing slot at Nicollet on Tuesdays, from 10–12 noon. If you're interested, call Mary at 781-3271.

River Falls Tennis Camps

A special thanks to those who attended the two banquets honoring Friends and Staff Members of River Falls Tennis Camps on July 30 and August 6. The honorees were Emily Day, Bernice Hanson, Mary Kaminski, Dick and Shirley Pratt, Florence Habegger, Virginia Heinzen, Addy Levin, Kris Berndt, and Virginia Morgan. The honorees were "roasted" and shared their memoirs during a delicious buffet supper.

Swimming to a Record

STPC member Anice Flesh recently competed as a swimmer in the National Senior Olympic Games in Tucson. Anice placed in the top ten of her age bracket in a number of events and won a medal.

She also competed recently in the state meet, and set two state records for her age bracket. Congratulations, Anice!

Correction and Addendum

by Carol Hall—The August Tennis Times mistakenly identified STPC member Irma Brink as the mother of a mother-daughter duo in the swimming event at the Duluth Northland Senior Games in July. In fact, STPC member Lois Thompson and her daughter Susan Wadsworth were the mother and daughter. Irma Brink also competed, but by herself and in a different age category.

Congratulations are in order for Lois, who won four, Susan, seven, and Irma, three gold medals. And, apologies to all concerned.

It should be noted that Lois went on to more swimming glory. On August 10, Lois, who is 80, not only captured three gold medals for three events in the Master's group at the Minnesota State Championship, she broke the state's existing records. More kudos to Lois, who took up competitive swimming as a senior.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Rosie Paulson, the latest member of STPC to complete twelve lessons.

Remember to keep track of your lessons and let your instructor know when you've completed the set of twelve.

In Memoriam

Louise Nomura, 74, died August 24 in an auto crash following a family reunion in Washington. Louise and Carl Nomura were well-known in STPC until their move to the Northwest. We extend sincere sympathy to Carl, their daughters, sons and grandchildren.

Playing Nice: Encouraging Civility on the Courts

By Bob Tischbein—There are rules and customs governing the playing of tennis that promote fairness and civility. Some of you might not be aware of them—after all, how many of you have read the USTA Rule Book? Here are a few "rules of the road" that are frequently violated. Look them over and mention them to your playing group if you think they're being ignored. Playing nice makes tennis so much more enjoyable for everyone!

Is It In or Out?

One of tennis' most infuriating moments occurs when after a long hard rally, a player makes a clean placement and hears his opponent say, "I'm not sure it was in or out. Let's play a let." Remember, it is each player's responsibility to call all balls landing on, or almost at, his side of the net, and if a ball can't be called out with surety, it is to be considered good. When you ask for a replay of a point, what you're really saying is:

- your opponent's shot was really out, but you have to give him a break
- you must have had a small shred of doubt, and that doubt means the point should be your opponent's.

Your suggestions for court courtesy tips are appreciated. Please send them to: Bob Tischbein, 5471 Rowland Rd, Minnetonka, MN 55343.

A handsome and tanned road warrior, Jon stands 5'6", weighs 145 pounds, and has brown eyes. His mind always reverts to biking in conversation. "Biking is a mind trip," he'll say. "Relationships are strong and only independent people get involved," he stresses. On the recent trip, one biker rode off into the sunset never to be seen again.

Ride on, Jon Wallace, over all obstacles and win your race!

Captains' Profiles

by Carol Hall—Bob Wrobel's skills teaching adult education are evident in his captaining at Tartan Park and Wooddale. Bob firmly takes charge, moving the play right along.

Tennis is important to Bob, now four years retired from a technical college post, but it's not his only retirement pastime. "I love so many things," he said, mentioning gardening, attending stage plays, and...clogging.

Serious and dignified, Bob doesn't seem the type to add cleats to his shoes and beat out a clattering rhythm on the floor. Yet, he's spent nearly a decade clog dancing with the Gopher State Clogging Association. "It's an excellent aerobic exercise," he said of the tap-like freestyle dance of Appalachia. "I got into it because I'd always been interested in tap dancing."

Bob also gardens, bakes bread and cooks. He's created a database of favorite recipes (ask him to share the one for Santa Fe stuffed green peppers!).

The list doesn't end there. Bob fishes with his four adored grandchildren. Polish (his real name is "Wrubleski"), raised in East Saint Paul, he reads Russian history. Tent-trailering with wife Jean and their two daughters throughout the US and Canada was a major accomplishment. And he loves big band music. The Wrobel's once ballroom danced to it. Bob tooted it on saxophone and clarinet in his Navy squadron band. How enthralled is Bob with 1940s sounds? Even though clogging is almost exclusively accompanied by bluegrass music, he's working on choreographing a clogging routine to "Let's Dance," a favorite Benny Goodman tune.

Bob served four years in the Navy in the early 1950s. He cruised aboard an aircraft carrier for thirteen months as an aviation machinist's mate, and confessed to having had a "grand old time," sailing into European ports and basking in the Cuban sun.

The carefree life ended abruptly. Soon after his discharge in 1954, Bob took on the major responsibilities of marriage, family and vocational training to learn the tool and die trade. He also set about to earn a college degree.

Devising a backbreaking schedule which allowed him to get his education piecemeal, Bob worked full time as a tool and die maker at Honeywell, and part time, teaching machine shop and shop math at Saint Paul Technical Institute. Nights found him attending classes at the University of Minnesota Institute of Technology, whenever time permitted.

Eventually Bob changed jobs and schools. He moved to Medtronics as a manufacturing engineer and to Metro State University. A third move took him to Hennepin Technical College to teach machine shop. Bob completed his BA at Metro State in 1976. Still not content, he began work on a master's degree.

Eventually the difficult years of juggling school, work and family paid off. In 1979, some two decades after he'd begun, Bob was awarded an MS in Industrial-Technical Studies from Mankato State College. The degree and the skills Bob learned through his jobs helped win the post of Department Supervisor and Assistant Campus Administrator at Hennepin Technical College in Eden Prairie. Bob held this position for 21 years, retiring in 1993.

Following retirement, Bob took up tennis and joined STPC. Starting from scratch he proceeded to dig in and learn the game well. By faithfully playing three times a week at Tartan Park and drilling at Decathlon, Bob built himself into a strong 3.0 player in just one and a half years. Strong enough to capture second place in last year's Jack Dow Tournament in the 3.0 Men's Doubles category.

Bob enjoys the role of captain and praises his players, who praise him back for his efficient leadership. He's about to begin his second winter at Wooddale, following two summers at Tartan Park.

"One of the real benefits of STPC," Bob said, "is all the interesting and nice people you get acquainted with."

Yourself included, Bob Wrobel!

Captains' Corner

by Chuck Emme—What does it mean 'to captain?' Webster's Definition is 'to act as a leader of; to conduct as a captain of; to manage; to control.'

So why should we volunteer to be a tennis captain? Is it for power? Is it for glory? Is it for money?

Hardly any of the above fit the profile of our Senior Tennis captains. No, they do it because they like to play tennis in a well-organized league. They want to be sure there are players to fill their courts with a comparable skill level. They like to play tennis.

If you can't find a place to play, or players of your skill level, volunteer to be a captain. Many of our coordinators have courts available (see the Indoor Court Schedule).

Your reward is satisfaction of a job well done and appreciation from the other players in your group. If you really do a good job, they may double your salary for the next year (zero time zero equals zero)!
