Helen Stecklein Elected STPC President

By Bev Sinniger

Board member Helen Stecklein was elected STPC president at the March Board of Directors meeting. She succeeds Bob Tischbein, who will serve on the Board as past president.

A member of STPC since 1993 and a captain, Helen plays senior tennis at the Oakdale Golf and Tennis Club in Oakdale. She was elected to the Board a year ago.

A BS graduate of George Washington University, she also completed an MS from the University of Wisconsin and an MBA from the University of Minnesota. Her varied career has seen her in different leadership roles including member of advisory boards, a community college dean, a stock broker, and a financial advisor.

She and her husband, John, have lived in the Twin Cities since 1952, presently living in Saint Paul. John Stecklein was a board member and then STPC president in 1993, as well as the recipient of the Dow Trophy in 1999. Because of vision impairment, John is no longer able to play tennis. The other newly elected officers are Henry Flesh, of Minnetonka, vice president; and Jean Murdock of Edina, secretary. Ron Liddiard of Eden Prairie will continue as treasurer.

Completing the Board roster of newly elected members are Roz Bernstein of Edina, Mary Kaminski of St. Anthony, and Jack Thommen of Bloomington.

Filling out their terms are returning board members, Patrick Calvin, Jim Erler, Jan Hagen, Liz Kamish, Rod MacPherson, Polly Maki, Nick Pappas, Don Schneider, and Ronnae Wagner.

Outgoing Board members who have completed their terms include Bill Connell, vice-president, Dick Lidstone (a past president), Wendel Munson, Shirley Pratt, secretary, and Bev Sinniger.

The nominating committee for new Board members included Helen Stecklein, chairperson, Dick Lidstone, Patrick Calvin, Polly Maki, and Nick Pappas.

Bylaws Amended

The board approved an addition to the STPC bylaws at the April 27, 2000 board meeting. The new paragraph is as follows:

Section 9.5. Member Conduct. In all activities of the Club, including tennis play, tournaments, drills, parties, social events, and club meetings of every kind, members shall conduct themselves in accordance with customary standards of sportsmanship, courtesy, decency, decorum, and tennis etiquette, and shall abide by the bylaws and policies of the Club, rules of other clubs and facilities used by the Club, and other tennis organizations, and all applicable local, state, and federal law, rules, and regulations. The board shall have the right to investigate, hear, and rule on alleged violations of such standards and shall have the power to impose appropriate discipline on violators, including, but not limited to, censure, warnings, withdrawal of privileges of membership, or conditional or unconditional revocation of the Club membership.

a note from helen

by Helen Stecklein, STPC President

Everyone, please observe the word "note." I have never been given to long discourses, and the current one may be shorter than usual. I am flattered to be your new president and hope I am up to the job.

At present the Steckleins are in a bit of chaos. Our house is up for sale, and we are therefore living in a goldfish bowl. House, please sell! We have bought a nice condo in Roseville because John can no longer handle steps safely.

By the next Notes I hope I can provide you with a new phone number and address. Also, I am having minor shoulder surgery in June—the result of too much use from some construction we did and, I suppose, tennis (but I hate to admit to that). However, I hope to see you on the courts soon.

Have a great and fun summer tennis season!

Spring Luncheon and Annual Meeting 2000

May 13—ah, Spring, ah, the Annual Meeting! The ladies can dress in all their spring outfits, the men can wear their most colorful ties, and all can coiffe their hair in the very best style. Ah, Spring.

May 13—the Annual Meeting. Temperatures in the low forties, wind gusting with who-knows-what force. Hair styles? Forget it, just hope we can hold our hair down. Spring outfits?? Where did I put that winter dress that I had put away for the summer and looks okay?

But over 170 strong came to the Doubletree Hotel and enjoyed a tasty meal, great company, and great entertainment. Ron Liddiard, treasurer, says we are still solvent; Helen Stecklein, president, said she hopes to keep things going smoothly, and really would like more people to volunteer with our activities. Mary Kaminski presented the Jack Dow Trophy to a very worthy recipient, Dick Pratt. We certainly need more people like Dick in our organization!

Our entertainment, the Now and Then Singers from Lakeville Senior High School, entertained us with many of our old-time favorites, variations of some recent tunes that we can still understand, and even provided us with a madrigal. Their voices, harmony, and presentations were very professional. When we see a group like that we know our world is still safe.

Many thanks are given to the committee—Jane Tischbein, Ronnae Wagner, Susie Redpath, Winnie Lund, and Bev Sinniger, for providing us with such an enjoyable afternoon.

See ya next year. helen

Keeping on the Road

WITH AGE COMES EXPERIENCE, a concept that is truly evident when one looks at driving statistics. The younger the driver, the higher the rate of car accidents. But this adage doesn't stay true. Safety facts from the U.S. Department of Transportation show that although the safest drivers are those between 34 and 55, the accident rate starts to increase again as people age beyond 55. The older the driver, the more severe the accident. According to the U.S. Department of Transportation's Fatality Analysis Reporting System, people over age 75 have more motor vehicle deaths per 100,000 people than any other group except those younger than 25.

Research has shown that the kinds of driving problems experienced by older drivers are directly related to changes caused by aging. Such changes include vision loss, diminished hearing, reduced strength and flexibility, slower reaction times, and psychological changes. But growing older doesn't mean you have to sell the car. There are steps that you can take to reduce your risk of accident and improve your driving skills.

Exercise

As if there weren't enough reasons to exercise, it has been shown that exercise can improve your driving skills. The benefits of regular exercise include improved flexibility, making looking over your shoulder to change lanes a bit easier, increased strength, less fatigue, and reduced stress.

See Your Doctor

Have your vision and hearing tested regularly. Have routine physicals. Talk to your doctor about any concerns you may have while driving. Be sure to check your medication. Some medicines warn against driving while you are taking them.

Analyze Your Driving

Be honest. Are you having any problems driving? Is it hard to see at night? You may have to adjust how and when you drive. Ask family members or friends to evaluate your driving.

Take a Refresher Course

If you are 55 or older, you can save money on your car insurance and become a safer driver through the 55 Alive Defensive Driving Program. This 8-hour program, from AARP, is the nation's first and largest classroom driver improvement course and is especially designed for the over 50 driver. Call 1-888-227-7669 to find a class near you.

Taking such steps may not guarantee that you'll be able to drive forever, but they can keep you safely on the road.

Civility on the Courts

By Bob Tischbein. Returning a serve that is obviously out, accompanied by an out call, is a form of rudeness. When the receiver knows that, in making these returns he bothers the server, it is gamesmanship (using a ploy to gain a victory or advantage over another person).

At the same time, it must be expected that a fast serve that just misses the line will frequently, with justification, be returned as a matter of self-protection, even though an out call is made.

First ball in is not an acceptable tennis procedure. It provides the server with a definite advantage. Warmup serves should be taken prior to play.

In doubles, when one partner calls a ball out and the other one good, the doubt that has been established means that the ball must be considered good. The reluctance that some doubles players have to overrule their partners is secondary to the importance of not letting your opponents suffer from a bad call. The tactful way to achieve the desired result is to tell your partner quietly that he has made a mistake, and then let him overrule himself. If it comes to a showdown, untactful honesty is preferable to tactful dishonesty.

In Memoriam

Constante (Connie) Custodio, 68, STPC tennis pro, died May 10 of a heart attack suffered two days before. Connie joined STPC in 1988. He was well-loved and respected on the tennis scene in the Twin Cities, both as a player and an instructor. His ever-present good humor and willingness to pitch in and do anything to promote tennis were legendary. STPC member Gregg Wong, sports columnist for the St. Paul Pioneer Press, wrote a moving eulogy for Connie in his column on Sunday, May 14.

Our condolences are extended to Connie's wife, Sally, daughter Cathy, 3-grandchildren, and 2 great-grandchildren.

Miguel Custodio, 95, Connie Custodio's father, died April 17 of a stroke. He was one of the first Filipinos to come to Minnesota, in the 1920s, and despite daunting discrimination, managed to make a good living for his family and send his three sons to college. He retired in the 1970s after 30 years with Honeywell.

Our deepest sympathies are extended to the Custodio family for their very sad losses.

Jeanne Adam of Roseville, wife of member Bill Adam and mother of member Thomas Adam, died May 7 as the result of a stroke suffered 1½ years ago. We extend sincere sympathy to Bill and Tom and to daughter Jeanne, sons Jerome and Steven, and six grandchildren.

Guidelines for STPC Tennis Captains

- There are two coordinators to assist captains, one for Saint Paul and one for Minneapolis. Their names are listed in the masthead of the Times and at the end of the court schedules.
- The club has made arrangements with the various indoor tennis clubs to provide court time without being a member of that tennis club. This is an STPC member privilege. It is the captain's responsibility to make sure each player is a current member of STPC.
- Establish the level of play and obtain the required number of players. Some captains have two courts and others have three or more. This is at the discretion of the captain.
- Prepare a sub list for your players. The list should be updated frequently. It is the responsibility of the player to obtain a sub. The player should call the sub the night before to confirm the commitment to play. Payment is between the player and the sub—it is not the responsibility of the captain. Some clubs charge each time you play, so payment is made at the front desk. If payment is made at the beginning of the session, as in most cases, the captain shall determine the cost and advise the players.

- Gather the required information on each regular player for the USA Community Tennis Program and submit it to the designated board member. Participation in this program is optional; however, we urge you to support it. The money received permits STPC to financially assist the Inner City Tennis programs in the Twin Cities.

- Many captains purchase tennis balls in advance for the entire session, and charge the players accordingly. This assures fresh balls every week. One can per court should be adequate for two sessions.

- Section 9.5 of the STPC bylaws, "Member Conduct," provides the captain authority to see that all players practice good conduct and adhere to the code of the United States Tennis Association. Various civility articles that have appeared in the Times should be noted and discussed.

- We urge captains to cultivate others to become captains. Captains will someday resign and should have their own replacement ready to take over their responsibility.

- Summer tennis is mostly walk-on, so many of these guidelines do not apply. Captains and players have the authority to insist on good conduct and adherence to the STPC bylaws and the code of the United States Tennis Association.
